The DIMMER VIEW

The Soviet Word for SALT - Niet!

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance added a page to President Carter's growing education in world diplomacy when he brought back the word from Moscow.

Couched in polite language, the word becomes "Niet!" But the actual rejection came in a scathing diatribe condemning Vance and Carter and those who surround them.

The proposal to limit strategic arms was initially greeted by Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko as a splendid idea. Especially our proposal to reveal the size of our arsenal and to cut it back dramatically. The Russians became almost apoplectic when Vance suggested that they do the same.

Using that as a starting point they roundly scored President Carter for his human rights policy which was viewed in Russia as interfering with their internal affairs.

Nothing has really changed in Russia over the years except they will make deals by which they benefit by a ratio of 100 to 1 or more. Try to recall any pact involving Russia that benefited any other nation than Russia. Dealing with them as an equal is impossible.

Whether the Russians fear attack or have plans for aggression is a matter the State Department must consider as we make proposals to the Soviet that seem to always end up with them being the recipient of our munificence.

To us, one of the most ominous indications that Soviet military intentions are sinister is the USSR extensive civil defense program. For many years now, Russia has been preparing to protect both its population and its industry against a possible nuclear war. This was made evident in a U.S. Press Assn. advisory in December.

It was reported that the operation includes an evacuation plan for the entire urban population—more than 100 million people—within 72 hours.

Every Soviet citizen has an assigned place to go outside the city. Shelter construction is very widespread, ranging from simple fallout shelters in rural areas to massive underground shelters for key industrial and military personnel.

Moreover the Russians are striving to save as much as possible of their industrial plant complexes. Among U.S. experts on Soviet civil defense is Dr. Leonard Goure, of the Center for Advanced International Studies at the University of Miami.

Speaking on a recent radio program of the American Security Council's WASHINGTON REPORT, Dr. Goure said that "since 1966, 60 per cent of all new factories have been dispersed into small towns throughout the U.S.S.R. A friend of mine who recently returned from Soviet Russia told me that he himself had helped build underground plants—in the event of war."

Dr. Goure also said that the Soviet Union had massive, dispersed and protected supplies and stockpiles of various things from food to spare parts and fuel.

Compared with all this, the U.S. civil defense effort is a farce, Dr. Goure says that the U.S. spends only one per cent as much as does the USSR in this area. What this means is that the U.S. deterrence is eroding. Russia can credibly threaten nuclear war because she conceivably could survive one. The U.S. could not.

In the face of such facts, some U.S. experts still argue that the U.S. need not become alarmed and that the U.S. should not or cannot attempt to match the Soviet effort.

Perhaps not. Our society would not be easy to adapt to the regimentation that might be required. But Soviet civil defense is not something to dismiss lightly.

In view of the obvious implications, it becomes all the more important to maintain and increase U.S. military strength.

April 11 is Deadline For Property Taxes

A flood of second installment real estate tax payments is expected to hit the administration center between now and this year's deadline of April 11.

Tax collector James E. Jones said more than half the total of 1976-77 tax charge of $528,037,811 has already been paid. Nearly 84,000 taxpayers paid both installments before the Dec. 10 deadline.

Jones said he was always concerned when the deadline for second installment payments comes later than April 10, as it does this year. The closer the deadline is to the last day to file federal and state tax returns, the more people are likely to confuse the dates or forget about paying the second installment property tax before the April 11 deadline.

Under state law, the post office cancellation mark is crucial in determining whether or not a payment was made on time. Jones urged property owners to mail their tax payments a few days early.

The deadline is one day later than usual because April 10 falls on Sunday this year.

A 6 per cent delinquency penalty and $3 for costs will be applied to payments postmarked or paid after April 11. Payments may be made at the cashiers' windows in Room 162, 1600 Pacific Highway, from 8 to 5 Mondays through Fridays. The 6 per cent penalty is a straight 6 per cent of the total installment and is not an annual percentage rate as some taxpayers assume, Jones said.

Property owners already owe $602,990 in penalties on delinquent first installment payments, according to the tax collector. If last year's delinquency rates are repeated, $16,190,000 in first and second installment amounts will be unpaid on July 1.

Stubs for second installment payments were attached to tax bills mailed in October. Property owners who have misplaced their tax bills should call the tax collector's office at 236-3121 to find out how much they owe.

Jones reminded property owners that they are not excused from paying either taxes or penalties because they did not receive a tax bill.

Yamaha Stolen in S.V.

A 1971 Yamaha motorcycle valued at $300 was taken from the utility room at the home of L. J. Briggs, 3545 Saddle dr., Spring Valley.

The thief broke a window in Briggs' utility room to get to the vehicle and left other valuables untouched.

He reported the loss on March 30.

Increase Tax or Cut Service Is Fear of Supervisor Moore

San Diego County Supervisor Lucile V. Moore told the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce Thursday night that the Board will be unable to hold property taxes at the current level next year without reducing county services below publicly acceptable levels.

She told the Chamber group, meeting at the Ox Bow Inn, that if the Board follows a previously announced policy of holding the line on taxes the Board itself should make the final cuts rather than referring the task to County staff.

"Other members of the Board of Supervisors voted in January to hold the County's property tax revenues for the coming fiscal year to the same level as current year," Mrs. Moore said.

"I was not present for that vote due to official business in Washington."

"I am sure my colleagues are sincere in their efforts to hold the line, however, I have equally sincere reservations about our ability to do so."

Inflation Hurts
Moore said she believes it will be possible to lower the County tax rate because of increases in assessed valuation but factors such as inflation and demands for additional services will make it difficult for the County to operate with the current year's property tax revenue. In short, the tax rate could go down but the tax bill would be bigger.

Moore pointed out that of the $453 million budgeted by the County for this year, only $117 million was raised by property taxes. She said the largest source of funds to the county comes from state and federal grants and appropriations which are earmarked to pay for specific programs.

Preliminary budget figures for requests by County departments for fiscal 1977-78 totaled $559 million, Moore said. County staff reduced that figure to $529 million, and earlier this week determined that another $10 million must be cut in order to balance the budget under the guidelines established by the Supervisors.

"Any cuts that are to be made in such areas as human resources, health care and fiscal and justice," Moore said. "These are the areas where the Board has the greatest budget control, and these are the areas where it is hardest to predict demand for service."

Moore also said that drastic cuts by the Board will involve layoffs of County employees, and such a move will not be popular during a period of high unemployment in San Diego County.

First 'Official' Unofficial City Council Meeting Tonight

The first "official" unofficial meeting of members of the City of Lemon Grove Town Council will be at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lemon Grove Fire Station, 7853 Central ave.

It is unofficial because there will be no city until July 1, consequently, the council cannot act for the city until then.

But as members of the Advisory Committee to the County Board of Supervisors, members may make recommendations to the board and hear reports from it regarding the city-to-be.

Tom Parks, liaison for the county will attend. Two matters certain to come up are what will be the priorities that will occupy the council when it officially sits on July 1.

That focuses on the other matter: what kind of ceremony will be attendant the meeting of the first local government ever for residents of Lemon Grove.

The meeting tonight is open to the public as will be all meetings of the council.

Town Meeting Sounds 'Please Come' Plea

Time is running out for registering to attend the Family Town Meeting to be held Saturday, April 16 at the auditorium on the grounds of St. John of the Cross Catholic church. All Lemon Grove residents are urged to take part.

The meeting starts at 9 a.m. and lunch will be provided free of charge to all registrants. The food is being provided by local churches which include the L.G. Lutheran, Congregational, Church of Christ, Baptist and Skyline Wesleyan, according to Donna Beckley, Community School Director and chairman of the Town Meet.

Dr. Robert Sutton, superintendent of the Lemon Grove School District received confirmation Tuesday that Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin will attend the morning ceremonies at the Family Town Meeting. Later in the morning Assemblyman Peter Chacon will present the assemblage with a flag that has been flown over the state capitol building expressly for the local group.

Monday, hundreds of school youngsters will carry home a Family Town Meeting brochures with tear-out application blanks and a run-down on the program.

Beckley said that more participants are needed. Less than 100 of the necessary 300 have indicated attendance. To make registration easier, registration will be taken at Food Basket and Alpha Beta markets Saturday.

Mobilehome CB's Burglars Targets

Mobilehomes were targets of a burglar on March 29 with CB radio the specific items in mind.

Within minutes apart, two owners reported loss of their Lear Jet 23 channel CB radios to sheriff's deputies.

In Lemon Grove, Henry Harold Lane, 2714 Glebe rd., told officers that the window of the mobilehome parked at that address had been forced and the intruder cut the wires to his radio. He also lost an in-dash stereo in the process.

In Spring Valley, Robert W. White, 1815 Sweetwater rd., lost his CB and an 8-track stereo from his mobilehome after the burglar pried open a front window.

In the same action, he lost a deep-sea fishing rod and reel.

Participation is simple, Beckley said. "Just come." Most of the participation will consist simply of sitting in any group desired—and exchanging conversation.

Steering committee meetings are still being held. The final one is Tuesday in room 1, Monterey Heights Community school at 7:30 p.m. Any interested person may attend and take part.

Beckley urges those who may have any doubts about whether their attendance can contribute anything should call her at 469-0695.

Tell Your Council

Priorities—Make a List

Councilmen of the City of Lemon Grove will have a Herculean task come July 1st when the council must come to decisions on myriad issues.

Few of them will have easy answers and many will take long hours of research and investigations.

Probably each councilman will have his concerns established on a list with the priorities of lesser importance on a descending scale.

What about you? What priorities would you give matters you believe the council should initially address itself to?

List those in sequence or importance and send them to this newspaper. The list will be delivered to the council when it convenes.

This is now your city. Your voice will be heard. It will become the city you want it to be only if you communicate with those who will make the decisions.

Address the list to PRIORITIES, PO Box 127, L.G. 92045.

Here are some suggestions. You may number these in the sequence of importance as you view it with number one as the most important.

- More Police protection
- More Traffic signals
- Sign Controls
- Better shopping parking
- Rebuild storefronts
- Road repair
- Enforce speed limit
- Trash pickup service
- Protection from park hoodlums
- Recreation programs
- Acquire an ombudsman
- Better traffic control

Park Squawk Petition Moves Sups

More than 100 residents of Lemon Grove have signed a petition which was delivered to the County Board of Supervisors last month.

The petition, circulated by Frank Du Fon, of 2326 Dehco dr., cites more than a dozen conditions which harass residents in the immediate vicinity of the County park. The park is at the north east corner of Washington and Alton.

Some of the nuisances charged in the petition include:

- Drunken parties in the park at all hours of the night
- Marijuana parties
- Gang fights after dark
- Motorcycling in the park after dark
- Using the fence line for a restroom

Applications Due For Miss Lemon Grove

The deadline for filing applications for the Miss Lemon Grove competition is next Friday, April 15.

According to Craig Lake, chairman, only four girls have entered the contest, winner of which will not only represent Lemon Grove in Fairfest of the Fair competition this coming May but will have the distinction of being the first official representative of the City of Lemon Grove.

The contest is slated for 7:30 p.m. April 23 at Lemon Grove Junior High School auditorium.

The winner will receive $750 worth of prizes. Entry blanks are available from Chairman Craig Lake at Dell Enterprises, 7917 Broadway; the Chamber of Commerce office at 3415 Imperial; and at the Lemon Grove Review, 7834 Lester ave.

Commission of sexual acts during daylight hours

..... Unnecessary noise and extreme profanity

..... Vehicles driven over the lawn breaking sprinkler heads

..... Disturbances between 10 p.m. and 8 a.m.

Supervisor Lucille Moore responded to the petition a few days ago offering these corrective measures to be provided by the County:

..... Bumper posts will prevent vehicles from racing on the lawn.

..... Signs installed with open-close hours to permit better control by Sheriff's deputies.

..... Pruning trees along Washington street so that activity can be observed from the street, and a periodic foot patrol to be provided for corrective action.

The corrective measures either have been or are being taken this week, it was indicated.

The park was developed approximately proximately a dozen years ago but has become a nuisance for the last four years or so, Du Fon said.

Residents at the park area are afraid to intervene in the activity because of the size and determinations of the hoodlums, he said.

Park control will be one of the early considerations for the city council when it begins official meetings it July, it is believed.

Nearly all of the petitioners border the park, including Du Fon. He said he has spent more than two years attempting to have the harassment stopped.

Sex Discrimination

Charge Reopens Club

The In Spot East night club at 8920 Broadway, Lemon Grove, will continue business as usual after Superior Court Judge Wesley B. Buttermore Jr. lifted an entertainment license suspension last Thursday.

The County Board of Supervisors had imposed a three-month penalty on March 16 because of the club's alleged repeated violations of county laws requiring female entertainers to register.

William D. McClelland, the club's owner, challenged the constitutionality of the board's ordinance on grounds of sex discrimination — male performers are not required to register while females are. He claimed that Lemon Grove's recent incorporation had removed his club from the board's jurisdiction.

A hearing has been scheduled for April 18.

CARNIVAL OPENS TODAY—Christiansen Carnival has set up at Lemon Grove Junior High and is opening its four day run today at 3 p.m. The carnival is part of the annual Old Time Days Celebration and will be open 3 to 10 p.m. today and tomorrow and from noon to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Old Time Days General Chairman Leonard Klein said carnival discount books will be sold up until 3 p.m. The books sell for $1 and include tickets for five rides. Also there will be a drawing for a bicycle on Sunday night Klein said.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

How did God make His presence known to you?
Q. (To Dr. Peale) I am making a survey of famous people I respect for a fifth grade class report. My question to you, Dr. Peale is: How did God make His presence known to you?

A. It happened quite suddenly and unexpectedly. I was constantly miserable because of an inferiority complex.

One day I was walking down the steps of the college chapel, and as I reached the fourth step from the bottom I had the compelling urge to turn my life over to the Lord. I did so, definitely and sincerely asking to be delivered from my weakness.

God made His presence known to me when I made this decision to love Him, follow Him and do His will. And He becomes nearer with every passing day.

Husband hates his in-laws
Q. What is wrong and what can I do with a husband who threatens to leave if I have anything to do with my family? Plus he has written them he will have them arrested if they come to my house. Please answer me as I am desperate.

A. From your question we gather that your husband has a personality hate problem. Our guess is that he hates himself and therefore is so insecure that your family is a threat to him.

If, however, your family has been acting badly toward your husband, then the fault is shared. Try to persuade them to have loving understanding toward him. Such an attitude in time — and it often takes lots of time — breaks down hostility.

One thing you can perhaps do is persuade your husband to go with you for family counseling. Do not relate it to the problem of your family, but rather to the unhappiness you both feel. Ask your minister or doctor for the name of the nearest counseling service.

Stiffed by job
Q. I used to be somewhat creative but my job has buried that — everything has to be done a certain way, and it is so automatic that I rarely think about what I am doing! I need to learn to use my mind again.

I've tried concentrating on the hobbies I enjoy but it makes it harder to sit at my desk typing. I feel like a machine. I'm really getting depressed!

I'm a 22-year-old single woman, unhappy with my job, but I don't know what else I can do. Everyone I talk to says it's something I have to find out for myself, but I don't know how. I hope you can help me; I don't know where else to turn.

A. We have known 22-year-old single women pounding typewriters like you to become extremely important executive secretaries; and beyond that, to become executives themselves.

These are people who came to work every day with an alert mind; who knew that they could make themselves invaluable to their employers. They were constantly on the lookout for new and innovative ways of making the office function more efficiently. And any office can.

We have a booklet, ENTHUSIASM — The Action Handbook, which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write for one. Address your request to Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

"Guards," by Thom Opdenaker, is a black comedy about three soldiers in the midst of a war sometime, somewhere in the world. Fighting among themselves, and almost single handedly losing the war, they are rudely interrupted by the enemy. It is then that they show their true colors.

"For Theirs Is the Kingdom of Heaven," by Chuck Preble, humorously probes the shadowy region between heaven and earth when an atheist, an agnostic, a Southern Baptist preacher, and a Catholic housewife from Oklahoma meet out there in the twilight place shortly after their respective deaths.

The ultimate confrontation of frustrated pride and snobbish indifference take place in "The Abduction of Mrs. Rawlins," by Janis E. Parkerson. In this dry comedy, a confused and completely inept young man kidnaps his psychiatrist's wife, a lofty and overbearing woman whose main concern is that she will be late for a dinner party.

Padres Host Giants in Tuesday Night Opener

All trails lead to the Stadium Tuesday night when the San Diego Padres open their home season against the San Francisco Giants.

Among other things fans will be paying attention to is the opening day attendance count.

The Padres appear to have a shot at a record opening day crowd — a record made last year when 44,728 fans were on hand.

The night will be wild, according to Padre executives. The full evening of entertainment gets underway at 6:30 with a pre-game program featuring a patriotic theme running up almost until game time at 7 p.m. Special "first ball" type ceremonies are planned with various dignitaries on hand for the occasion. Then, following the contest with the Giants, the Padres will stage a gala fireworks program.

The fireworks display will begin almost immediately following the game and indications are the display will be one of the best ever staged at San Diego Stadium.

Pub Club Opened

An innovation this year will be fans use of the exclusive Stadium Club. Now called the Padres Pub, it will be open to non-club members for the first time. The facility will be open two hours prior to the game and one hour afterwards.

Admittance to the Padre Pub will be for full and mini season ticket holders and their guests with ticket holders being issued credentials based on a "one ticket, one pass" system. The passes, however will be transferrable.

A complete buffet-style menu will be available each evening with dinner reservations required at least 24 hours in advance. These reservations may be made by calling the Servomation office at 283-6029. Guests cannot be seated for dinner without a reservation. However, the bar in the Padre Pub is open without any reservations during the entire operating time of the facility.

Business Special

The first home series will close out with the first of four Business Specials Thursday April 14.

Instead of the usual week-day evening starting time, the game will get underway at 1 p.m. affording business fans a chance to close up shop early and enjoy an afternoon at the ball park.

The Business Specials have been increasing in popularity over the past few years and this season's schedule of such games features two very attractive dates against perennial National League Western Division powers Los Angeles and Cincinnati.

Apart from this Special versus the San Francisco Giants next week, the Padres also have Business Specials set up for May 26 against the Atlanta Braves, September 6 versus the Los Angeles Dodgers and September 22 against the two-time defending World Champion Cincinnati Reds.

All games under the Business Special banner will be at 1 p.m.

The Padres have two fan-favorite specials scheduled during Cincinnati's appearance April 15-16-17. The series second game on April 16 will be the first of five Family Fun Center Picture Pack-Autograph Nights featuring free photos and Padre players available for autographs while the Sunday finals on April 17 will be 7-Up Batting Glove Day with free batting gloves compliments of 7-Up going to the first 15,000 youngsters 14 years of age and under.

RECORD SMASHER — Tom Watson, who busts tournament records when he wins, as in the Andy Williams-San Diego Open and Bing Crosby Pro-Am, will be one of the favorites in the $225,000 MONY Tournament of Champions. The prestigious event will be played April 14-17 at beautiful La Costa Country Club. Watson, who also has two runner-up finishes this year, is the 1977 leading money winner with $135,185. Season tickets, including free parking, cost only $24.

Padres Games On Television

Two of the Padres' season opening series in Cincinnati against the World Champion Reds will be televised locally on XETV-Channel 6, beginning Saturday at 1 p.m. The game is included in NBC's "Game of the Week" programming but will not be carried by KGTV.

The April 10 contest will be aired at 11:15 a.m. from Riverfront Stadium.

Channel 6 vice president and general manager Julian M. Kaufman said Padre fans can follow a total of 14 road games this season televised live via satellite with Jerry Coleman handling the play-by-play.

He said the San Diego-Cincinnati contests will inaugurate the television schedule which includes two games each month, April through October, against such opponents as the Dodgers, Mets, Cards and Phils.

Girl Team Faces 4-Man Invaders In Softball Play

A Softball Oddity "Sportacular" will be played on Helix High diamonds Friday at 8:15 when the Joker and 3 Aces play the La Mesa Stars — the county's best girls team.

The Joker is Danny Millsap, veteran softball pitcher and one of the Aces is Bill Tincup. Each has more than 50 years of baseball playing time. The 4-man team has Mike Millsap, Danny's son (13 years of play) and Bill Tincup, Jr. Bill's son.

The men will occupy short and first bases with Millsap son catching Millsap father.

Two girls-teams will be preliminary to the Sportacular. Admission is $2; children $1.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

The biggest prize on tap down Augusta way this week may not be just another Master's green coat. It could be an invitation to play in a really big golf match commin' up next week at La Costa.

'Cause, no matter which way you cut it, there ain't nuttin' like the MONY Tournament of Champions.

Sure, the Masters is rated one of the biggies, but right along with the working stiff's of golf, somebody's Uncle Clyde or Cousin Charlie can wangle an invitation if he knows the right folks.

That ain't the way they do it at the MONY Tournament of Champions. You gotta be a winner to tee up at the La Costa shindig. A bonafide, current, this year, earn a first place check, tour winner. Ain't no other need apply.

And if this week's low scorer at Augusta, Georgia ain't one of the already qualified, then part of the big prize for the Master's title is a trip to La Costa.

Allard Roen, the only tournament chairman of the MONY T. of C. had ever had, will welcome 13 first time winners to this 25th anniversary gathering, with perhaps still one more to come.

The 13 rookies break the old mark by two and include a pair of three-time winners and three two-time champs.

With tigers like that, don't look past the rookie field for a likely new face to follow when you tramp the grounds at the beautiful, but deadly, La Costa golf works, April 14 through 17th.

You'd never know it to look at him, but from the condition of La Costa's swat-yard, host pro Tommy Jacobs has a real mean streak hiding somewhere deep inside him.

The fairways are beautiful, soft, well managed and cut down to about 20 feet wide in the driving zone. Teeing up at La Costa is like trying to thread a needle with a shaky hand.

Of course, everybody remembers how water wanders along, down across and through most of the tough finishing holes on the front side and how the lake on 17 actually reaches out and grabs balls flying past, but to make things more interesting this year, Tommy has allowed the grass to grow.

The rough at La Costa these weeks looks like a field of green corn September high just before harvest.

Playing there last week this portable pounder lost six balls and two partners . . . on the front nine.

"We'll probably cut the rough a little before the tournament," confessed Tommy. But he didn't say how. They'll have to use saws.

All former winners have been invited back for this Silver Anniversary tourney and Stan Leonard, who whipped par by 13 strokes to capture the 1958 crown, will be out in front teaching a trick or two at Roen's Command Clinic on Tuesday.

"These boys are better players than we were," confessed Stan. "They get excellent coaching in college and play enough tournaments to know they're ready when they come on tour. In our day, it took us four or five years on the tour to really learn the game."

Leonard rates the MONY Tournament of Champions as the personal favorite of the playing pros. "There isn't a man playing the game who doesn't look forward to coming to this tournament," he grinned.

But that was before he saw the rough. Or the narrow-as-an-arrow fairways. Even a mother couldn't love this layout.

"It's tough enough for a U.S. Open or a PGA," admitted Jacobs without even a cough of embarrassment, then picked an eight under par 280 as the winning score.

Jack Nicklaus is the odds-on favorite (at 6-to-1) to win, but that's without thinking about the 13 first timers. And Lee Trevino is skippin' the Masters to get ready for La Costa.

Tickets are on sale everywhere, including Special Services on all military bases. Nobody's gonna want to miss this swat-party.

Golf Champs Offer Free Clinic

RANCHO LA COSTA—Remember back about 15 years when star golfers would stage a clinic and exhibition prior to important tournaments to showcase their outstanding talents?

Let's see. There was big Mike Souchak, the longest hitter of his day, booming the driver. Silky-smooth Sam Snead would do his thing with the long irons. La Jolla's Gene Littler would effortlessly smokestack the middle irons. There was Canadian Stan Leonard with his short iron wizardry, and little Jerry Barber, the virtuoso of the putting greens.

Allard Roen, tournament chairman of the MONY Tournament of Champions, has decided he'd like to see a replay of this once popular feature.

So, who are the experts this time around? Well, Roen has Mike Souchak hitting drives, Sam Snead long irons, Gene Littler middle irons, Stan Leonard short irons and Jerry Barber putting.

They'll all be part of Nostalgia Day at 3 p.m. on Tuesday at La Costa Resort Hotel, Spa and Country Club, a prelude to the $225,000 Silver Anniversary edition of this prestigious event. The championship proper will start Thursday and conclude Sunday. First prize is $45,000.

They'll be joined by others among the 15 former winners, plus the 33 current qualifiers.

The most recent qualifier was Danny Edwards, 25. He is the 13th first-time player — the old record was 11 — in this exclusive event open only to winners of major PGA events, plus the British Open, in the last 12 months.

Former winners include Al Bessellink (1953), Art Wall (1954), Gene Littler (1955-56-57), Jack Nicklaus (1963-64-71-73), Arnold Palmer (1962-65-66), Stan Leonard (1958), Mike Souchak (1959), Jerry Barber (1960), Sam Snead (1961), Frank Beard (1967-70), Don January (1968-76), Gary Player (1969), Bobbie Mitchell (1972), Johnny Miller (1974) and Al Geiberger (1975).

Comeback Trail Rocky For Veteran Mike Mayon

The return engagement of Mike Mayon, who was once "the Mexican buzz saw" but who now more closely resembles the Tijuana hay-ride, left a lot to be desired in his second fight in eight days.

He danced 10 rounds with Rafael Nunez a Mexicali lightweight in the main event Friday night at the San Diego Coliseum. Each weighed in at 138. And the judges estimated it to be a draw.

It was Mayon's latest in 10 or so comeback fights — and the road gets rockier for the veteran of more than a hundred scraps.

The opener was the entertainment of the evening. Manny Leal of San Ysidro and Teddie Pineda of Mexicali came to fight. The lightweight had fans on their feet throughout the six rounds. Pineda was dropped three times and Real twice. The judges probably based their decision of the fall-count and gave it to Real on a split decision. It has been a long time since money in such quantities has been tossed into the ring at the Coliseum — the measure of fan approval. About $200 was split by the two fighters later in their dressing rooms.

In other bouts Bert Lee, a junior heavyweight of Potrero made it 3-0 by grinding out a split decision over Tony Adams of Mexico.

Heavyweight Dave Wynn, a Southwestern College student, now 4-0-1, stayed out of the loss column by getting a split draw over Buddha Brooks of L.A. Newsmen had it for Brooks but the ring officials cast what appeared to be a hometown ballot.

The card, as a whole, was exciting. So will the next card be on April 15 when state featherweight champ, Manuel Uujan meets Gerald Hayes of New York.

Fights start at 8:15 every other Friday. Cash discounts are given to seniors, juniors and military.

Prettier Face Readied For Del Mar Track Season

Progress is continuing on Del Mar Thoroughbred Club's $2 million program of Grandstand expansion and other major improvements in advance of the 1977 racing season which begins Wednesday, July 27.

Construction was initiated last summer, at the conclusion of the '76 race meeting, in Phase II of Del Mar's ten-year schedule of extensive improvements to the picturesque seaside course. Phase I, involving expansion of the Clubhouse and Turf Club, was finished prior to the 1974 racing season.

According to terms of Del Mar Thoroughbred Club's 20-year lease with the State's 22nd District Agricultural Assn., 75 per cent of the track's net annual profits is paid to the State until an $8 million plan of capital improvements is funded.

Starting in 1970, when the Del Mar Thoroughbred Club began its operation of the track, pari mutuel handle almost has doubled to a daily average of $1,897,156 during the '76 season, while attendance has risen 62 per cent for a daily average of 15,355 last summer.

Expansion of the Del Mar Grandstand includes significant enlargement at both the ground and mezzanine levels and the construction of an outer deck on the mezzanine which extends the full length of the grandstand. As a result of this expansion, pari mutuel facilities will be much improved for general admission patrons.

Other major improvements include installation of double-wide escalators at both the East and West ends of the grandstand, greatly facilitating crowd movement from ground level to mezzanine; expansion of kitchen facilities to insure efficient food service, and major remodeling of both the Surf Room and Thoroughbred Room.

Griff T&F Team Takes SCC Title

Coaches Bob Larsen and Ron Vavra saw their Griffin track and field team win a conference championship for the eighth straight year last week as Grossmont closed out the dual meet campaign with a 4-47 triumph at Orange Coast College.

The Griffins won all six of their South Coast Conference dual meets and now have won 5 of their last 61 dual meet decisions over an eight-year period.

Freshman Kris Lettow made his third personal record in the last four weeks by tossing the discus 15-7 in last Friday's win over OCC.

Chuck Hattersley ran the 5,000 meters for the first time this year, and came through with a time of 14:51.6, one of the fastest clockings in that event this spring for Southern California runners.

Sprinter Steve Riggins won the 200-meter dash in :21.8, a personal record, while teammate Mark Groom pulled in second at :21, equalling his personal best. Scott Gillett gave the Griffins a clean sweep in the 200 by taking third at :22.0.

Gillett finished an impressive double with a :49.4 in the 400-meter run.

Freshman Blair Clausen, despite being burdened with an arm cast, managed to record a respectable double as he won the long jump (22-5 3/4) and the triple jump (44-5 1/4).

Hollypark Renews $200,000 'Sweep'

Sunday Sweep, Hollywood Park's unique handicapping contest, will be back for its fifth season in 1977, when $90,000 will be offered to proficient selectors.

Because of its immense popularity over the years, Sunday Sweep will contain the same basic rules, with $1,000 being distributed each week to the person or persons selecting the most consecutive winners, beginning with the first race, on his or her official entry blank.

Additionally, there will be a rich bonus jackpot each week for anyone capable of picking all nine winners and thus, completing a "Sunday Sweep". Hank Lauman proved it could be done last season when he pocketed $21,000 May 2 for tabbing nine straight winners.

There will be 15 Sundays of racing this season, therefore 15 separate Sunday Sweep contests. The bonus jackpot on opening Sunday, April 17, will be worth $5,000 and will increase by $5,000 each week that there is no sweep.

However, on the fifth Sunday of the meeting, May 16, the jackpot could reach $25,000 and that amount, plus the regular $1,000 weekly prize, definitely will be given away whether there is a sweep or not.

The jackpot will revert back to $5,000 on the sixth Sunday of the season and will begin accumulating again, provided there is no sweep. On the 10th Sunday of the season (June 19, Father's Day), the jackpot again could reach $25,000, all of which will be distributed that afternoon.

The final plateau of Sunday sweep could be reached on the final Sunday of the season (July 24) when another $25,000 again could be given away to the afternoon's best handicapper.

Faceoff for all home games is 7:30 p.m. and regular season ticket prices will prevail. All seats are reserved at $7.50, $5.50 and $3.00 and tickets for the playoffs are on sale daily at the Mariners ticket office

Aztecs Nine Tries Loyola

A seven game stretch of S. Cal Baseball Assn. games lies ahead for the S.D. State U. baseball team with the first game scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m. against Loyola in Los Angeles.

On Saturday, the Aztecs will move over to L.A. State for a doubleheader against the Diablos at 1 p.m.

The seven game stretch of conference games will continue next week when San Diego State and UC Santa Barbara hook up in a four game series.

Loyola appears to be a good team despite its poor (10-18) overall record. The Lions will bring a three game winning streak into Friday's game, having pounded Long Beach State in a conference doubleheader last week by scores of 17-15 and 7-3 and whipping Cal Poly (Pomona) 13-2 on Monday in a non-conference affair.

The Aztecs are likely to see either righthander Mike Copes or lefthander Drew Bentz on Friday. The Lion hitting attack is paced by outfielder Tracy Cowger and catcher Ken Slagle.

Non-Cents
Half cent coins were issued from 1792 to 1857.

at the Sports Arena, Bill Gamble's Store, Select-a-Seat locations and Ticketron outlets in the county.

If the 8 games played during the regular season are any indication, the first round action will be a "home and home" series.

Regular season play for 1976-77 saw the Mariners defeat the Jets in all four games played at the Sports Arena and Winnipeg victorious in the four games played in Manitoba.

At the Sports Arena, San Diego outscored the Jets 16-10 in the four games played, with no contest decided by more than two goals. The scores were 3-1, 4-3, 5-3, and most recently (March 31) Joe Norris broke a 3-3 tie with the winning goal with only 26 seconds remaining to give the Mariners a 4-3 win.

Results in Winnipeg have been quite different. In the four games played, the Jets outscored San Diego 27-7. Two of the games were won by 6-goals, one by 5 and Winnipeg outscored the locals by two goals on still another occasion.

Anders Hedberg, the high scoring Winnipeg winger provided the bulk of the scoring for the Jets against the Mariners. In seven games (he missed one due to an injury), the native of Sweden scored 12 goals and added 7 assists for 19 points! Linemate Ulf Nilsson scored only 3 goals in the 8 games, but assisted on 16 goals.

Local Vets Talk Down Buying Kids Easter Pets

The California Veterinary Medical Association and local veterinarians have suggested not submitting to the popular practice of giving pet rabbits, ducks and chicks at Easter.

The Association said giving live farm animals to children is not only a form of animal cruelty but the survival rate for them is not good.

"Animals not crushed to death with love or overfed with kindness often wind up in animal shelters with no one to adopt them and they must be destroyed," said Lemon Grove and Spring Valley veterinarians is a joint communique. "Most of these Easter pets are outdoor animals and they cannot be house broken."

"Many are disease carriers, for both humans and regular household pets," the Veterinarians continued, "A chocolate rabbit or a candy chicken would still keep the fun of Easter without the cruelty or psychological trauma from a needless death of these farm-type animals."

Ellis Warns Drought May Drift To S D

The effects of the drought in Northern California are beginning to be felt in the normally arid regions of Southern California and according to State Assemblyman Jim Ellis, it's not causing much concern.

Three water agencies in Southern California have released some 35,279 acre-feet of water to relieve the drought plagued North.

And Assemblyman Jim Ellis said last week he wants to collect a meeting of the Drought Emergency Task Force and San Diego area citizens to fill them in on the scope of the problem.

"Southern California is not currently suffering from a lack of water," said Ellis, "many of its people do not fully appreciate the gravity of the situation and the need to regard the drought crisis as a statewide problem."

Previously the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California had released some 320,000 acre-feet of water to the north and the Center Municipal Water District which serves agricultural regions in Northern San Diego County have already implemented water conservation programs.

State To Screen Quake Prophets

SACRAMENTO—The state has come a long way from the idea of using cockroach behavior to predict earthquakes.

The Office of Emergency Services has announced that guidelines have been established by a panel of scientists for a centralized evaluation of earthquake predictions.

Charles Manfred, Director of Gov. Brown's Emergency Service office, said a nine-member Earthquake prediction council would use the guidelines to screen potentially valid earthquake predictions.

"Decision makers need guidance about whether to respond to an earthquake prediction, and how to respond," said Manfred, "The best compromise between a scientist's freedom to make his views public and society's need to be protected from costly responses to false alarms as to evaluate predictions as soon as possible after they are made."

The council will evaluate predictions for potentially damaging earthquakes, those over 5.5 on the Richter scale, but also may look into other predictions depending upon the level of public concern.

the observance will be all learning centers in the Lemon Grove School District.

April 18-22 has been selected by the Grand Lodge of Masons and the Lemon Grove School District for recognition of the local schools.

Open houses for district schools will be as follows:

April 14 — San Altos
April 19 — Palm Jr. High

Phil Andreen Named 'Lawyer of the Month'

Attorney Phil Andreen was named Trial Lawyer of the Month by the San Diego Trial Lawyers' Assn. for his defense in a much-publicized murder trial in which murder charges were dropped in the middle of trial.

Andreen is on the Board of Directors of Defenders, Inc. and is a former candidate for Assembly in the 79th Assembly District and Coronado School Board member.

The much-coveted honor was made last week at a dinner at the Town and Country Hotel.

"It was difficult to get defense witnesses to testify," noted Andreen, "because of threats of death and injury against them made by the real murderer. One such threat was contained in a note inside of a pipe which was thrown through the window of a witness."

One of the prosecution's key witnesses was arrested during trial in connection with the threats and is to be prosecuted for the murder — adding an unusual twist to the trial. The charges were dismissed when the District Attorney became convinced that the defense alibi witnesses were telling the truth about being with defendant Hector Cortinas at the time of the shooting.

Phil Andreen is not to be mistaken for Robert Andreen, member of the Grossmont High School District Board who is also an attorney and who is now on trial in San Diego Courts on a charge unrelated to schools.

Curbing Seen As Council Concern

One of the complaints filed with Chamber of Commerce secretary Glenda Jackson to be passed on to the Lemon Grove City Council was from a Broadway ave. businessman heated over an $11,000 bill he must pay to comply with a county requirement for curbs, sidewalks and guttering.

Larry Boerner, of Solar Construction Company, 8111 Imperial ave., said it was "ridiculous to continue under conditions set down by the county six years ago."

"It costs 3 times as much to put in a short section of curbing than it does to do the entire street," said Boerner who has been fighting the county's requirement since 1969. "I'm all for improving the street but as it is now it's a nightmare."

"If I go ahead and put in underground guttering," Boerner explained, "the property next to mine that doesn't have it will be flooded out."

Boerner said his six year fight with the county has been over a lien contract which allows for all the property owners on the street to band together to put in curbs, guttering, and sidewalks.

"That way, everybody goes in together and it keeps the costs way down," he explained.

Boerner said the county's idea was to have uniform curbing but the way it was being done was not working.

"I don't believe in piecemealing," he explained. "Why, some of the big equipment used can't even turn around in the space they are putting in curbs."

Store Loses Drugs

Frank Clark Lehigh, of the Casa Drug store at 9927 Camino rd., Casa de Oro, reported at 9 a.m. March 16, that someone had entered the drug store during the night and made off with narcotics valued at $400-$500.

The thief got in by knocking a hole in the back wall of the building and the repair bill to fix it was $240.

Penalty May Follow When Your Dog Bites

If your dog has a tendency to bite people, you'd better make sure the animal is properly restrained or you could find yourself in court charged with illegal possession of a vicious animal.

The County of San Diego's Department of Animal Control is aggressively pursuing a policy of prosecuting owners of vicious animals. The Department is responsible for enforcement of animal regulations in the County and some cities.

A recent case was a San Diego man convicted of illegal possession of a vicious animal. Evidence showed the dog had bitten at least six people, five of which were children. The dog owner was ordered by the Court to destroy the animal fined $50 and placed on one year's probation with regard to any possible future violations of animal regulation laws.

David Boyd, chief of animal regulations, reports that an average of one case a month finds its way to court. However, Boyd added that the Department will go to court as often as necessary to protect San Diegans from vicious animals.

"People are responsible for the conduct of their animals and owners can and will be prosecuted if they fail to abide by the law," said Boyd.

New Thrust for State Boards

By Peter R. Chacon

SACRAMENTO — "Advocates for the People", are now occupying a majority of seats on the State Boards which regulate California's professionals. Until this year, most members of the 23 Boards within the Department of Consumer Affairs which licensed and issued disciplinary actions against physicians, architects, contractors, barbers, tax preparers and other professionals were recruited from the industries they were supposed to regulate.

Better Representation

A few years ago, consumers began questioning whether their interests were properly represented under this regulatory system. The State Legislature responded to this concern last year when it passed a bill which allowed the Governor to appoint public majorities to the Professional Boards. Last fall, the Governor's office began what would become a three-month talent search to locate new Board Members who could properly represent the public's interest.

Last February, the Governor announced the appointment of 61 Californians from all walks of life to terms on the Boards. Most of the positions are unsalaried; new members will receive per diem and expenses each day the Board meet. While there is no guarantee that the majorities of the public members will immediately affect the Board's policies, the new appointees are sure to inject some fresh points of view into state decision-making.

Among the new public members are an officer of the San Francisco SPCA who will be sitting on the Animal Health Technician Licensing Board; a 21-year old University of California student who has performed research on nursing homes on the Nursing Home Administrators Licensing Board; a consumer fraud investigator with the San Francisco District Attorney's office on the Advisory Board to the Bureau of Employment Agencies, and a public interest attorney on the Collection Agency Advisory Board.

Governor's Support

Governor Brown has indicated his support for public members is part of his Administration's interest in making the voice of the general public heard in previously closed decision-making bodies and institutions. The concept of public members reflect the idea that lay control and public participation is a vital ingredient of our democratic process, the Governor has said.

At a recent mass swearing-in ceremony, the Governor told the new appointees, "It is up to you to break down the barriers which separate privilege from professionalism, that separate quality from restriction, and to insure that the first order of every profession and occupation that you have a responsibility for is service to the people."

The "public representatives" successes and failures in fostering professional accountability to the people will be carefully monitored by professional groups, consumers, and lawmakers over the next few years.

As an Assemblyman, I encourage my district residents to take an active role in sharing recommendations with your elected representatives and your "Advocates for the People", who have been selected to assist you as taxpaying consumers.

Child Saved from Kidnapping By Alert Spring Valley Man

San Diego Sheriff, John Duffy, made the presentation last week of the Citizens Award to a Spring Valley man.

The citation read, in part:

At 5:40 p.m., on February 2, 9-year-old Lisa Dawn Davis and her sisters, ages 3 and 4, were left in a car in front of a Spring Valley shopping center store for a few minutes while her mother went inside. Almost immediately after her mother entered the store, Lisa was pulled from the car by a man who picked up and ran carrying the screaming, struggling child toward the end of the store. A short distance away, the man fell down, Lisa broke away and the man tried to grab her again.

Meanwhile Curtis Perkins of 9029 Redfields st. of Spring Valley saw what was happening and ran toward the struggling couple.

The man abandoned his efforts to recapture Lisa and fled, with Perkins in pursuit. After a chase around the back and side of shopping center store, Perkins caught the suspect, fought with and captured him.

While being led back to the front of the building, the suspect broke loose and after another chase, Perkins tackled the suspect and, because he believed the suspect had a knife, he held him to the ground until aid came.

Perkins' disregard for his own safety in coming to the rescue of a kidnapped child may well have prevented great harm from occurring to the child.

The Citizen Award is the highest award given a citizen by the Sheriff's Department.

'Day in Court' Program Set Again for Law Week

A luncheon featuring Gov. Brown's Legal Affairs Secretary, Anthony Kline, and the eighth annual "Day in Court" will highlight the S.D. County Bar Assn's observance of Law Week, April 30-May 6.

Plans for the week are being prepared by a 15-member committee under the direction of Sheridan Redd and James Stiven.

The traditional Law Day luncheon, the date of which is to be announced later, will be co-sponsored by the U.S. Naval Legal Services Office. All commanding officers in the local area will be invited.

The "Day in Court" program will be Saturday April 30 10 a.m.-1 p.m. with open houses at the downtown, El Cajon and Chula Vista courthouses.

Read said the award-winning "Day in Court" program will again be co-sponsored by the S.D. Bar Auxiliary. The courthouse will be open with lawyers and judges serving as hosts.

Mayor Pete Wilson will participate as a member of the bar association. Buses will carry students to the ceremony and teachers or students may make arrangements by calling Diane Sullivan at 231-0781.

Read said the theme this year is "Partners in Justice". "We hope to foster greater public understanding of the roll citizens and institutions play in supporting, strengthening and improving our legal and judicial systems."

Deadline for Filing 1976 State, Federal Income Tax Is Next Friday

Next Friday marks the deadline for filing 1976 income tax. Here are some last minute tips that will aid in collecting information and filling out your return.

Income

Gross income for tax purposes means all income from any source except that specifically excluded by tax law (gifts, inheritance).

Wages and salaries includes commissions, bonuses, tips, income from side jobs. Your employer must have given you W-2 forms by January 31, showing the amount withheld. These forms must accompany your tax return. If you are paid on a commission basis, you should already have Form 1099 with this information.

Your bank should have already sent you Form 1099 showing any interest you earned over $10 on your savings account. See Chapter 9 of the tax booklet for guidelines.

See Chapter 10 to find out whether you can save money on what you earned in dividends from stocks or bonds. Some may be excluded.

If you are on a pension, your pension fund trustee should have sent you copies of Form W-P for pensions or Form 1099-R for lump sum distributions.

Alimony is taxable as regular income but child support payments are neither taxable or deductible.

All the documents above show what you earned during 1976 and subsequently what you may have to pay or hope-fully receive as a refund.

Adjustments

Adjustments are given for disability pay deducted from your paycheck. Form W-2P will show this. Also adjustments are given for moving expenses (see Chapter 15), IRA/Keogh Contributions (see Chapter 12), and alimony (see Chapter 23).

Deductions

A deduction is subtracted from your adjusted gross income when you are calculating your taxable income.

You may either itemize deductions or take the standard deduction whichever is to your advantage. If you earned less than $10,000 in 1976, chances are the standard deduction is the best route. This, of course, depends upon the number of dependants you may have.

Also, you may subtract up to three per cent of your adjusted gross income for medical and dental expenses. Check Chapter 19 to make sure.

You may deduct state and local taxes on real estate, personal property, income, and sales (see Chapter 20).

Also deductible are charity contributions (Chapter 21), interest and finance charges (Chapter 22), union dues and work clothing (Chapter 24), political contribution (Chapter 24); and losses due to theft, fire, or other casualties (Chapter 34).

Credits

A credit is subtracted directly from the tax you would ordinarily owe, according to the tax table. Disabled dependent and child care is now a credit rather than a deduction. Check chapter 38.

The outline of the steps involved in determining your tax is as follows:

—Gross income minus adjustments equals adjusted gross income.

—Adjusted gross income minus deductions minus personal exemptions equals taxable income. From the tables, tax liability is determined.

—Tax liability minus credits equals tax owed (from tax tables).

—Tax owed minus tax withheld or prepaid equals tax owed or refundable.

If the tax withheld or prepaid is more than the tax owed, expect a refund check. But if the tax owed is greater than the tax withheld, get out your checkbook.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Douglas

Last week's CHP answer said it was legal to cross double yellow lines if turning to or from a driveway or residence.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It may save you a citation—or even your life. Write care of this newspaper. You don't have to sign the letter. Allow about three weeks for the reply to appear.

Question:

The other day I was traveling west on North avenue in Lemon Grove and the car ahead stopped at the sign before turning right onto Buena Vista near the 94 underpass.

I stopped, looked left and there was no traffic and made a right turn.

But, to my surprise, the engine of the car ahead had quit and it was stopped about 15 feet beyond the intersection. I clobbered him in the rear.

He claimed I should have been watching him. I claimed the accident was his fault for stopping. Who was right?

Answer:

In the circumstance you give, the second vehicle would be at fault, in that it was his responsibility to recognize a hazard in the roadway and act accordingly.

However, if the first vehicle had suddenly stopped for no reason, he would have been at fault for stopping in the roadway.

DMV Tests Now Given In Driver's Ed Class

SACRAMENTO — A new California Department of Motor Vehicle policy will allow classroom driving instructors to give instruction permits and driver's license tests.

The new ruling will avoid the treks by first time drivers to the DMV office for the exams.

Students will be issued the forms, be allowed to take them home for parents to sign, and return them to school. They will then take the written & eye exams.

Drivers License Division Chief Elmer Brown said it was too often high school students who successfully completed a driver training course would arrive at offices "enthusiastic to apply for an instruction permit or a driver's license, but minus the necessary documents. This is frustrating both for the students and their parents who must drive them to and from the DMV office."

Only the written and visions test will be held in the classrooms but the standard driving examination will be held in DMV offices, the chief said.

Frost-Nixon Talks To Be Aired in SD

British talkshow host David Frost has begun his series of two-hour taping sessions with former president Richard M. Nixon which will continue until April 20.

The four edited 90-minute programs will be carried locally by XETV-Channel 6 on May 4, 12, 19 and 25 at times to be announced.

The sessions are being conducted in a private Monarch Bay residence because of possible interference with the video taping equipment from the Coast Guard communications system near Nixon's San Clemente estate.
